Into Krivoi Rog

LONDON (CP) — The Red Army has broken into the streets of Krivoi Rog, big iron ore city in the Ukraine and last Dnieper bend stronghold still held by the Germans. Moscow announced tonight in a broadcast communique.

"Our troops have reached the town of Krivoi Rog and are fighting the enemy in its out skirts," said the broadcast.

Among 50 localities overwhelmed in the new Soviet strike were five railway stations, including "the key railway station of Dolgintsevo," about six miles east of Krivoi Rog, the bulletin said.

Nazis Pushed Back On Beachhead As Allies Turn Tide

By KENNETH L. DIXON

NAPLES (AP) — British and U.S. forces have stopped a supreme effort by densely-packed German troops to wipe out the Anzio bridgehead and have thrown the enemy back two miles toward Carrocceto (Aprilia). Allied headquarters announced today.

The Nazi steamroller advance, aimed down the Anzio highway toward Anzio last Wednesday, was halted only after all elements of Allied power were called into play during 48 hours of the most intense period of the fighting.

"Our effort was very greatly assisted by magnificent support given by Allied naval units, Allied air formations and both British and American artillery," the communiqué said.

The German offensive reached its peak before dawn Saturday. Then Allied tanks and infantry, under cover of a heavy artillery barrage, began smashing forward at 6:30 a.m. and still rolled ahead Sunday.

Intensity of the enemy effort was demonstrated by the appearance of elements of five regiments within one 1,000-yard area. Six enemy divisions threw their entire strength into the assault. Three others were held in reserve.

18 Nazi Divisions On Italian Fronts

An Allied spokesman said the Germans now have 18 divisions involved on the Italian fronts. Nine of these facing the beachhead, it was announced, are grouped under the 14th German Army, commanded by Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen, last reported on the Russian front. He is a son of the First Great War general.

Bulk of the remaining divisions stand on the main 5th Army front behind the Cassino defences. They include the 10th Army under Gen. Heinrich von Vietinghoff. Both armies still are under Field Marshal Albert Kesselring.

Throwing everything they could muster into a mighty southward stab to split the Allied beachhead forces, the Germans had managed to punch some 4,000 yards below Carrocceto before their advance was halted back.

Their casualties were heavy, the dead piling up in great numbers, hundreds being wounded and at least 700 falling prisoners. Some of those captured said one German regiment alone had lost 60 per cent of its strength.

Allied air operations Sunday were devoted almost exclusively to attacks on the broken German beachhead lines. Four-engined heavy bombers again joined medium and light bombers in bombing and shooting up enemy concentrations.

The Allies sent 900 sorties into the air, the Germans set up an estimated 100, and the sky battles and attacks on both sides of the beachhead ground battle were rapidly rising to a record peak when the weather limited further forays.

Three Allied aircraft were lost and at least four German planes were shot down.

No Major Action On Cassino Front

No major developments took place Sunday on the 5th Army's Cassino front although French forces repulsed an enemy raid northeast of Terelle. U.S. troops held fast to their positions in Cassino itself. Patrols were active on the 8th Army front.

Climax of the beachhead struggle—same Saturday when the German offensive bogged down and massed U.S. tanks and troops and British infantrymen landed a counterpunch which sent the Nazis reeling.

The 5th Army, which had been bracing for a Nazi blow for weeks, had held its counter-attack for just the time when the enemy had passed his peak.

As a result the Germans were able to muster but one small attack, after having used engineers, reconnaissance units and anti-aircraft gunners as infantry support in their previous efforts.

During the hottest part of the battle Allied planes so harried

2,000 Planes Out In War's Biggest Daylight Attack

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON (AP) — United States heavy bombers dealt the Nazi home front its fourth great aerial blow in 36 hours by bombing northwestern Germany to day a few hours after the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. had hammered Stuttgart on the southwest border.

Today's U.S. force was officially announced as "approximating" the size of the record 2,000-plane armada which struck Leipzig and other key German centres in daylight Sunday, attesting the U.S. air force's growing strength. The bomber section probably again approached the 1,000-plane figure, with an additional 1,000 escorting fighters.

The exact target was not announced immediately.

At the same time U.S. medium bombers hit the Coxyde airbase in Belgium.

Photographs brought back from Berlin revealed 240 bombers landed on the Junkers assembly plant there. Explosions enveloped the target. Other bombs fell among more than 100 enemy defence planes on the ground.

The first of the four mighty consecutive blows at Germany was a Saturday night British Canadian raid on Leipzig.

An Air Ministry communiqué said the attack on Stuttgart Sunday night was "a great strength" and "intense fires" were left burning among factories of the city as the raid ended, when clouds lifted and left a clear target for thousands of tons of explosives hurtling from the bellies of the big bombers.

Indications are the Prime Minister's forthcoming report will be the most comprehensive he has delivered since his last review, in September, and will throw new light on the Italian campaign and the battle for the Anzio beachhead, about which some members of the House have been critical.

Mr. Churchill also is expected to touch on the situation in the Pacific, the increasingly heavy aerials against Germany and Japan, the results of the Cairo and Teheran conferences. Members expect some reference to the forthcoming western invasion.

London newspapers predict the Prime Minister will warn Britain that the war is far from won and stiff, costly battles still lie between the United Nations and victory.

The London Daily Mail said

Mr. Churchill was disturbed by the defeat of the government candidate in West Derbyshire by election and his choice's close call in Brighton and might ask for a vote of confidence as a sign of a united home front.

The loss was in marked contrast to the Saturday night blow at Leipzig, when 79 of the heavy bombers, including 18 Canadian craft, failed to come back as a result of enemy action and icing conditions.

U.S. losses were 21 bombers and three fighters, two under the first-announced casualties of 22 bombers and four escorts.

The Americans were reported to have hit Posen, in Poland, site of a Focke Wulf plant, in the Sunday offensive, but headquarters declined comment. A blow at Posen would represent a 1,500-mile round trip.

The Yorkshire Post predicted he would assure the United States that more substantial British aid is on the way for Burma and the other Asiatic fronts.

The review will open a two-day debate on the conduct of the war in which Foreign Secretary Eden also will participate.

2,300 Tons of Bombs Dropped On Leizpig

Leipzig alone was hit by 2,300 tons of explosives in the Saturday night raid just before the Americans swept in to lay waste further portions of the city.

The attack of Stuttgart, one of the Nazis' biggest manufacturing centres with a population of 500,000, continued the series of triphammer strokes against German aircraft production a step forward to continental invasion.

It was estimated that last year horse racing would return to the government $100,000, but the tax amounted to $32,663—$67,336 more than the year before.

During next summer the government estimated it will collect $225,000 from horse racing.

Despite 20% Rebate
Licenses Bring More

Despite gas and rubber restrictions, the government this year expects to collect $15,000 more on motor-car licenses, even after the 20 per cent rebate, amounting to $400,000. Premier John Hart showed in his budget address to the Legislature today.

London Again Hit By Nazi Raiders; Incendiaries Used

LONDON (CP)—Nazi air raiders scattered incendiaries and explosives over London in a short but fierce attack Sunday night which set fires in many areas and caused some casualties.

The assault apparently was staged in an attempt to repeat the big fire raid which was carried out against London early Saturday—heaviest blow since the big attacks of 1940-41.

The Germans followed the same pattern Sunday night, faning out in all directions in an effort to confuse the defences and scattering fire bombs apparently indiscriminately.

The attacking force, however, evidently was smaller than that of Saturday, when it was estimated 150 planes came over the city.

The raiders were met by a thunderous anti-aircraft barrage and reports indicated at least three were shot down.

There was a second brief alert apparently touched off by enemy reconnaissance planes.

SCHOOLS, CONVENT BURNED

Three schools, a Roman Catholic convent, a hotel, several apartment houses, a number of business properties and many private homes were burned out. Incendiaries were the Germans' chief cargo, literally hundreds falling in one district, but some high explosives were mingled with the fire bombs.

The Berlin radio described the raid as a "massive assault."

Prime Minister Churchill today inspected the areas damaged Sunday night, and in response to cheers from hundreds of office workers, waved with the V sign and shouted "It's quite like old times again."

With his cigar at a jaunty angle, Mr. Churchill poked through the rubble and chatted with workers cleaning up the area.

When word of his presence spread, clerks on their luncheon hour left their sandwiches and sausages into the street, causing a traffic jam.

3 Boys Steal Guns; Battle Guards, Marines

BARMOUTH, Wales (CP)—

The "battle" of Cader Idris has ended, but while it lasted this struggle between three young boys who stole the Royal Marines' ammunition at a nearby camp and repelled a brigadier's batman, regimental police, the National

Fire Service and a marine platoon was quite an engagement.

The youths, aged 12 to 14, broke into the armory of a marine camp near this North Wales town last Thursday, took three of the six rifles and all the ammunition. They surrendered Friday under a flag of truce only when they were down to their last two rounds.

Discovery of the theft set off

a hue and cry. The brigadier's batman was sent after the boys,

but returned to regimental police for reinforcements when bullets started whizzing around his head.

The police in turn retired in the face of superior fire and the National Fire Service was called out. They also had to give up and the boys retired to the mountains around nearby Cader Idris, where they occupied an old mine.

A marine platoon tracked the boys down Friday and the marines, led by two subalterns, made a frontal assault with blank cartridges. Things were too hot for them and they took cover. One of the subalterns sent back for reinforcements and a captain to supervise operations. By then, however, the boys had almost used their ammunition.

Flying a white flag, they came out of the mine without their rifles, which have not yet been found.

The boys were escorted home by eight marines and placed "under restriction" there. Saturday night, however, they were seen going to a movie, admired by the boys of the neighborhood.

Shipyard Union Has Inside Strife

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawrence Anderson, former business agent for the Amalgamated Shipwrights, Boatbuilders, Joiners and Caulkers' local, said today that charges of unconstitutional actions and "conduct detrimental to the organization" will be laid against five members of the Amalgamated Building Workers of Canada executive board.

Anderson said the decision to lay charges was made at a meeting Sunday which was attended by more than 500 members of the shipwrights' local who voted to reinstate Anderson and Berth Smith, expelled by the A.B.W.C. board last week on charges of disruptive tactics.

The meeting Sunday night voted to expel President Malcolm Bruce, Secretary William Bray,

Victorian In Fight With U-Boats Through Gibraltar Straits

By FRANK LOWE

LONDON (CP)—Three German submarines were destroyed and several others damaged by British aircraft and warships when a pack sought unsuccessfully for 11 days recently to slip through the Straits of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean.

The submarines' effort, which Canadians with the R.A.F. and the British navy helped frustrate, was made under cover of darkness in a moonless period, a joint Admiralty and Air Ministry communiqué said. Apparently they sought to get through to Harry Allied shipping around Anzio in Italy.

The Germans followed the same pattern Sunday night, fanning out in all directions in an effort to confuse the defences and scattering fire bombs apparently indiscriminately.

The attacking force, however, evidently was smaller than that of Saturday, when it was estimated 150 planes came over the city.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
The U.S. Navy's victory at Truk is a dream come true, for it has administered a defeat which has so rocked the Mikado's capital that the Japanese are making no effort to conceal the devastating effects, both moral and material.

Not only has the Tokyo government acknowledged destruction, but it tacitly has admitted the gravity of the situation by firing the chiefs of staff for both the navy and the army. None less than the great Gen. Hideki Tojo, Japan's militaristic premier and master gangster, has taken over the position of chief of general staff of the army in addition to his other duties.

SPLENDID SCORE

During the two-day engagement at Truk, naval forces sank at least 19 ships, including several war vessels, destroyed 201 warplanes and damaged more than 50 others, and probably sank seven other ships. Bombs also created havoc among the enemy installations at that great base. As against this big killing, U.S. forces lost only 17 planes and suffered moderate damage to one ship.

Meantime the marines and army forces have continued to consolidate positions on the important Jap base of Eniwetok. And to the south, U.S. destroyers have blasted the Rabaul and Kavieng bases.

Tokyo certainly is right in saying the decisive battle of the Pacific has begun.

The big point, of course, is Allied fighting forces have demonstrated their ability to penetrate Japan's most powerful naval base by air, from aircraft carriers convoyed by a large fleet of warships. In doing this they invited the Japanese navy to come out and fight.

STRONGER THAN JAPS

This momentous development was no flash in the pan. They were able to carry out such a highly dangerous operation because they are stronger than the enemy. Their superiority is due to two causes: They have been constantly amassing power as the result of the tremendous national war effort, and the Japanese have been steadily losing strength.

It is true the Japanese have seized enough resources to enable them to wage world war indefinitely—if they were able to utilize those resources. In order to that, however, the raw materials must be transported over thousands of miles of water to Water transport means ships—and the Japanese just haven't got the ships and they can't build them in sufficient numbers to meet their needs. They never had enough cargo vessels, and they have been losing ships—steadily because the Allies have been sinking more than Japan could produce.

Canadians Decide They Must Abolish Want, Says Turgeon

TORONTO (CP)—J. G. Turgeon, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Cariboo and chairman of the parliamentary committee on reconstruction and re-establishment, said here today that free enterprise may not survive the completion of the war.

In an address to the Toronto Canadian Club, Mr. Turgeon said Canadians do not wish to break with democracy nor give up freedom of action, but our people have decided, quietly perhaps but quite definitely, that never again will they or their children suffer from want as in days gone by.

CONTINENT NECESSARY

Canadians must be contented with their way of life "before we can contribute very much worth while to the life of the world beyond our borders." Free enterprise is "fighting desperately" for its life, and is in danger of destruction.

"Man is superior to all destructive forces with the exception of those which shake his faith in God, destroy his trust in his fellow man and take away his confidence in himself. We can

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Profiting by bitter experience in the east, National Housing Administration officials are laying plans and surveying west coast cities in anticipation of a rush of population to that area when the European conflict ends and all forces are concentrated in the Pacific.

"We are busy making plans on reconstruction of houses, new construction and, where possible, decentralization in anticipation of the rush to the coast when the war comes fully to that theatre," an official said.

"We don't want any more Halifax mudslides and heartbreaks," he said, referring to the overcrowding of that port during the early unplanned rush of the war.

"In trying to avoid such a recurrence of overcrowding, our not rise above the things which make us feel impotent.

"That is why so many Canadians are fearful of the system. They have despaired of private enterprise and they wish to build up something all-powerful—like an all-absorbing state—that will attend to everything seen to come between them and the earning of a decent living."

FULL EMPLOYMENT

Those who feel that the "hunger of the 1930's" was not necessary, and who wish to apply the knowledge gleaned from war to industrial, agricultural and other activities when war is done must plan without fear in the positive knowledge that full employment can be maintained," Mr. Turgeon said.

"But we must prepare openly. Our intentions must be known. Our sincerity must not be doubted. Our ability to do the things we undertake must be realized by the Canadian people.

"Our plan must be comprehended, our program accepted. It is our duty to convince the people that we are in earnest, that we are confident, and that we are determined to succeed regardless of the price—for no price can equal the suffering of a decade past and the humiliation and shame and degradation that went with it."

Proof of Germans in Cassino Abbey, But Only 8 Monks

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Gervasi, Mediterranean correspondent for Collier's magazine, said on his return here at the weekend from Italy that while Germans were using the Abbey de Monte Cassino as an observation post he saw as many as 800 Allied soldiers go out and only 24 come back "because the Germans could see every move and turn their fire on them."

"In the beginning," said Gervasi, "we could have easily blown the whole works to pieces. Because of politics and because of the Vatican's request to respect Vatican property, we did not move until the Huns had had time completely to cover up."

Gervasi said he visited the Amio beachhead one day with Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark.

He added: "We had a rough time. A burst of shrapnel killed one of our party and wounded several. Mark Clark and I are alive by the grace of God, and I mean just that."

"A piece of shrapnel grazed the front of me, tearing my coat and making a slight wound in my abdomen."

MONKS URGED TO QUIT

WITH THE 5TH ARMY AT CASSINO (AP)—Only eight of the Benedictine monks of the Monte Cassino Abbey were in the monastery with an unknown number of civilian refugees and German troops Tuesday when U.S. planes reduced the historic structure to a shapeless pile of rubble.

Italian civilians who have reached the Allied lines from the monastery said most of the monks left the Abbey weeks ago when Allied forces first approached this area.

Those who remained in the building doomed by German persistence in using it for their war purposes were urged by the civilians to leave when warning leaflets were dropped on the monastery by Allied artillery last Monday. An uncertain number of them were reported killed or wounded in the Tuesday air attack.

One Italian refugee injured in the bombing said the Germans refused to permit civilians to leave after the air attack had started.

Labor Notes: The government is scanning the field of possible representatives of the public, labor and employers to fill 13 positions on important labor boards.

Three of the positions are on the expanded War Labor Board which, now composed of a chairman, a labor representative and an employer representative, is to be increased under the new wage control order to a six-man board—a chairman, vice-chairman, two representatives of the public and one each of labor and employers.

The reduction in the proportionate representation of labor has been one of the major criticisms of the new order.

Prime Minister King has declared the government's intention to consider some revisions after all major labor organizations have made representations. No appointments are expected to be

NEW USES FOR NICKEL MEANT NEW JOBS IN CANADA

AT THE CLOSE of the last war, Nickel was no longer needed to build battleships and artillery. The demand for Canadian Nickel fell off sharply. Soon the Canadian Nickel mines had to close down.

But the men who managed these properties could foresee possible new markets for Canadian Nickel in the growing automobile, electric, radio, chemical and other industries. They organized a Research and Development department to work with engineers in these industries, and to promote the use of Nickel and its alloys wherever better materials were required.

Shortly, operations were resumed. In 1924, the Nickel industry opened a new mine. In 1926 it began enlarging its smelting and refining plants. Within a decade it was paying out 15 millions of dollars a year in Canada for wages.

COSTS AND RESULTS

DURING THE WEEK-END GERMANY'S war machine, particularly her plane producing factories and those establishments engaged in the manufacture of engines and intricate mechanisms, has undergone a pulverizing which may well compensate the Allied air force commands for the expenditure of approximately 111 heavy bombers. The importance of such industrial communities as Leipzig and Stuttgart—not only because of the Wehrmacht's dependence upon the continuance of their output but also of the former's communications value to Berlin and northern Germany and the latter's railway service to Italy—is too well understood to require further description here.

But both these key points had sustained heavy blasting comparatively recently and, presumably, had revived some of their manufacturing capacity—which always evokes the application of Bember Command's special technique. To what extent recovery is possible after the attention they have just received is problematical; in any case, if General Arnold's estimate of the destruction wrought is anywhere near the mark, the Fuehrer's fighter plane production suffered a 25 per cent reduction during the 36-hour attack. Diversionary raids on other districts obviously had their important purpose in the general week-end plan.

Among the record loss of 79 planes in Saturday night's attack on Leipzig were 18 Canadian machines, a blow which indicates the growth of the part the men from this country are playing in the reduction of the Fuehrer's capacity to defend his precious "Festung Europa." What percentage of the personnel which manned them escaped death or serious injury may not be known for some time. The much smaller cost—22 machines—suffered by the American force which followed in daylight yesterday the night's attack on Leipzig is understandable because it had a fighter escort in similar proportion to the bombers employed. And their destruction of more than six score enemy planes likewise helps considerably to balance the purely material loss.

Disturbing as it is to contemplate the fate of so many gallant young Canadian, British and American knights of the airways, we have arrived at a stage in this mortal conflict when greater risks to win greater advantages may have to be taken. Those in authority have repeatedly told us that the vast and complicated landing at some point or points on the western European coastline will not be undertaken until the invasion forces can be given complete air cover, not only in the initial stages, but continuously and over an area many miles behind the enemy's deep defensive system. In other words, air supremacy is not enough; the Allies already enjoy this fortunate condition. The prime prerequisite for such operations is air domination; according to a statement recently made to the Canadian Club here by Rt. Hon. E. Leslie Burgh, this is not yet an accomplished fact.

The respective air commands in Britain, of course, are not giving the enemy any information on this score. They are playing their cards very close to their chests.

And the men of Berlin will obtain advance notice of the forthcoming land attack on "Festung Europa" only as their reconnaissance and intelligence may be able to discover. In the meantime, we may rest assured that the doses which British, Canadian and United States air forces have dished out in the last 36 hours will be increased rather than otherwise. And it is against still heavier aerial losses in men and machines that the Allied peoples must steel themselves. In comparison with the damage done, the present cost is judged small.

LONG-DISTANCE TREATMENT

BRITONS HAVE LONG AGO CEASED to worry about the few in the United States who miss no opportunity of "twisting the lion's tail." They make due allowance for the McCormicks and other Anglophones. And every important public man in the United Kingdom realizes that the average American is just as impatient as he is with that anti-British element which still clings to a George the Third outlook. It is not surprising, however, that a Church of England Newspaper—which, despite its name, speaks only for a Low Church faction—voicing the hope that President Roosevelt would be elected for a fourth term, has got itself into a little hot water in some parts of the United States. One charge against its unequivocal expression is that it seeks to influence the proceedings of the Democratic convention next June—as such, therefore, it is resented.

Political pressure on American politics from across the Atlantic is never tried by those familiar with American politics—even if the desire existed—and in spite of all the interdependent aims and efforts that unite the Allied nations in this global conflict, it is fairly safe to say that only a comparatively few citizens of one nation know very much about the domestic political affairs of the other. Fewer still would feel either capable or desirous of didactic comment upon them. Of course, the result of the November vote is going to have worldwide significance, whoever is elected. But the vote itself is a purely domestic function, based on domestic as well as international issues. The Church of England Newspaper has every editorial right to hope that the President is re-elected, and to call his third term "an untold blessing and benefit to humanity." But it takes a bolder step than any American newspaper so far has taken, when it picks both presidential candidates—ignoring Mr. Willkie completely—and then weighs the issue thus:

"History has not killed the desire and will to unite, will take the form of narrow, unimaginative, reluctant concession to new demands. Governor Dewey, who is tipped for the Republicans, nominally, is just such a man. . . . In this war, Providence has retrieved the muddles of democracy. That should be a warning, both to America and ourselves, not to tempt Providence again."

Whatever precisely is meant by the "muddles of democracy," there is one thing on which both political parties in the neighboring republics are in complete agreement: They propose to tempt Providence this year to the extent of making a fresh appraisal of their national officers and to decide accordingly—right in the midst of the world's costliest war. That is something which Britain, wisely or unwise, is not doing and, so far as one can judge at the moment, does not propose to do until victory is won. Many Britons would like a general election soon; the last took place on Nov. 14, 1935. However, no matter what the citizens of other nations do, they are following the right democratic process and that it is worth the muddle. They will abide by the decision and not halt in the business of helping to win the war. The McCormicks and their tribe of Anglophones will not cut much ice afterward.

WAR CASUALTIES

A BOUT 6,000,000 MEN HAVE DIED ON the field of battle from 1939 to the end of 1943, according to the estimates of statisticians of the life insurance companies. Total losses are still below those of the first World War, when they reached 7,500,000.

German and Russian dead account for about three-fourths of the losses so far in the present war. For each of these countries the toll is upwards of 2,000,000 and both have almost certainly suffered more than in the first World War. With the exception of Japan, and possibly also of Rumania and Greece, the battle deaths of other countries to date remain well below those of the 1914-1918 conflict.

Comparing battle losses in 1943, the fourth year of the war, with those of 1918, the corresponding period of the first World War, the statisticians say that last year's battle toll of 2,000,000 was about 50 per cent higher than in 1918. This comparison is not completely parallel, however, because the belligerents involved were not in all cases the same. Moreover, the first World War continued for only ten and one-third months in 1918. Of those nations engaged in both periods, Germany last year suffered losses far more severe than her own and Austria-Hungary's combined in 1918, while for other countries, last year's losses were the smaller.

Circumstances of this war so far have been such that the English-speaking nations have been spared in the matter of loss ratio. Unfortunately, we have to face the fact that for us the stiffer and costliest fighting is still ahead.

CHEAPER MONEY

THE BANK OF CANADA HAS REDUCED its bank rate to 1½ per cent from the 2½ per cent level maintained since the bank's establishment in 1935. This has been done, as explained in the annual report of the bank, for the purpose of bringing the rate more into line with current interest rates on short-term securities. In this, the bank signifies its intention to continue the kind of monetary policy which has brought about the current lower charges.

Inasmuch as the prospect of unstable interest rates would make it difficult for business to formulate long-term plans, the policy of the bank in stabilizing the rate at current low levels should prove an important and stimulating factor in Canada's postwar economic position. Also, it will undoubtedly have the satisfactory effect of safeguarding the market value of Victory Bonds in the hands of the public.

A CRUEL BLOW

NOT EVEN THE GREATEST NAVAL OR military victory will soften the grief which settled down on many hundreds of American homes when the first major loss of an Allied troopship became known the other day. It will afford poor consolation to repeat the obvious fact that casualties under these circumstances have been miraculously small to date. But our neighbors on the south of the border, especially those so tragically bereaved, know that the peoples of the United Nations who have suffered and continue to suffer under the physical impact of war are sharing their sorrow and extending them heartfelt sympathy.

GIFT DEPARTMENT

FROM WASHINGTON COME REPORTS that wives of Congressmen are taking lessons in public speaking and general deportment, with a view to making informative speeches about Washington, and learning how to give and receive gifts. Having listened to some of the taxpayers' mutterings about their husbands, says an eastern newspaper, we are doubtful that the Congressional ladies' "informative speeches about Washington" are going to be followed by much gift-giving. It might be better if the ladies just forgot that part of the instruction, and took a short, intensive course in road work and shadow boxing instead.

In Japan, a royally scheduled outdoor poetry party was called off last week until Hirohito had recovered from "a very slight cold." In the Marshalls, however, an outdoor landing party proceeded disrespectfully according to schedule.

MONASTIC

THE DEEP, MONASTIC silence of the future of Canada within the British Commonwealth is now explained. According to Grant Dexter, most eminent of Ottawa journalists, the Conservatives in Parliament have agreed to hold their tongues to accommodate Mr. Bracken, but not for long. The present truce is temporary.

How temporary? It appears that the Conservatives will maintain their vow of silence only until the Imperial Conference ends some time during the spring. Between now and then even Premier Drew will somehow manage to seal his mobile lips, which for him must be a feat of self-restraint unequalled except by the yogi practitioners of India; especially as he has already declared himself on the question under discussion again and again, and is usually ready to make a speech on it at the drop of the hat, even before the hat is dropped.

Now all this is very interesting and also very absurd. Let us examine the sequence of events which lies before us.

THE POLICY

MR. KING WILL go to the Imperial Conference in the spring. Up to then, apparently, no one will have said, anything more. The entire discussion of our place in the Commonwealth and the issues posed by Lord Halifax and Marshal Smuts is now ended.

What has been said in this discussion? Mr. King has said that he will not accept Lord Halifax's theory that the world is going to be run after the war by four great "Titan" powers. He has committed himself absolutely—the statesman who would make no commitments before the war—to the theory of collective security enforced by a league of sovereign nations. Mr. Caldwell has adopted the same policy. There is no dispute between the Liberal Party and the C.C.F.

Thus these two parties have laid down their policies, at the proper time, in advance of the Imperial Conference which will adopt a policy for the Commonwealth at large. No one can say now that there is nothing for the Conservative Party to discuss. No one can say that the government has failed to declare a policy and therefore the Opposition is not bound to criticize, approve or reject.

The policy of Canada is before the Opposition. It has not been held over until the Imperial Conference. Why therefore isn't the Conservative Party discussing it? Why is it delaying until after the conference when the decision will have been made, when it will be possible only to complain against a fait accompli? Why is the party refusing to act now; when it has its last chance to act, before it is too late?

THE REASON

LET US NOT be naive. The reason is quite obvious. Mr. Bracken has ordered a concerted silence and the party has fallen in line—for the present, with an absurd time limit and a patriotic vow to speak up when it is too late.

Why is Mr. Bracken thus sitting on the fence? Because he doesn't want any trouble in his party. Mr. Bracken knows that a section of his party is in violent rebellion against Mr. King's policy and is just as violently in favor of the Lord Halifax power-world. If Mr. Bracken takes one side or the other he must break with a section of his party.

It is the opinion of this reporter, without talking to him, that Mr. Bracken favors in general Mr. King's policy and is opposed to the Halifax policy; but whatever his opinion it is clear that powerful forces in the Conservative party, which have found expression in the Winnipeg Tribune, Mr. Bracken's closest supporter, do not favor the Halifax policy.

So Mr. Bracken keeps silent now, and keeps his party muzzled for the moment in the hope that something may turn up.

This is the party and leader who repeat three times a day that the King government lacks decision and courage.

TO ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD

POSTAL officials solved the old problem about the rose by any other name smelling as sweet when they delivered promptly to the Vancouver Canadian Pacific Express office a letter addressed to "Forwarders to All Parts of the World—Money Orders, Travelers Cheques, Foreign Cheques."

Supposition is that the writer, a Montrealer, went to a company office to copy the address and wrote down the slogan instead of the firm name. The enclosure, in French, concerned the return of an express order, issued in Vancouver and sent to the wrong address in Montreal. It said: "Ouvrez par erreur. Mauvais adresse."

Lewis Browne's Warning

IN HIS MOST RECENT NOVEL,

"See What I Mean?" Lewis Browne takes effective pot-shots at many things, but his principal target is Prejudice. It is obviously his conviction that hatred and suspicion, born of racial and religious differences, were rapidly infecting the thinking of many Americans until Pearl Harbor plunged the country willy-nilly into war and suspended this alarming trend.

It is for the organized groups fostering this flood of intolerance that Mr. Browne has greatest contempt: Ku Kluxers, Knights of the White Camelia, Silver Shirts, and the rest. All of these are dedicated to the upholding of "free, white, Protestant Americanism," and are violently anti-negro, Jew, Catholic, and Communist. There is a philosophy, to be sure, behind this, but it is not clear what it is.

Both Gribble and Smullet fall to realize that their little "tempest in a crackpot" (as the latter cynically calls it) along with similar movements elsewhere might infect the whole nation. Both count on it staying harmless while growing larger and more lucrative. They, the brains of the outfit, are too smart to want trouble. So when the ambitious ruffian Cleaver organizes flying-squads, obtains rifles, and begins to rave about militant action, they become alarmed and consider deserting the ship. But too late.

In all, it is as fascinating as it is unretentious book. The story and style are strikingly original, and the language is that of the street, full of roughness and color. It is a new departure for author Browne, who has been a prolific writer in historical and biographical fields, but his craftsmanship remains sound. The satire is most effective, principally because it is veiled by the neutrality of Smullet, who never believes in the movement (he believes in nothing), though he lets it support him.

The Crusade is born in the crippled mind of one John Christian Power, a Jew-hater, whose hypnotic oratory bolstered by utter perversion of truth, draws to the fold a flock of vagrants, chronic joiners, a sprinkling of radical intelligentsia, and the curious. "They were mostly belly-achers and soreheads, tall losers in the battle of life."

But the movement has potentialities, and in no time at all its High Command includes a quintette of Bundists and small-time racketeers, eager for expansion. With the backing of mysterious millionaire Francis X. Flanagan, the strong-arm tactics of tough Captain Cleaver and the German Kronkite, and the slick management of the firm of Gribble and Smullet, the Crusade earns the attention of many aroused citizens and the F.B.I.

It is a novel that will be eagerly read. And it is as timely today as it would have been before Pearl Harbor because the prejudiced and the intolerant and the gullible are still with us, unwillingly laying the welcome-mat for another Hitler. It can happen here! See what I mean?

THE BRITISH AT WAR

From Chicago Daily News

From Britain's population of 46,750,000, there are 33,100,000 between the ages of 14 and 65. Of these 22,750,000 are in full employment, meaning that they are either in the armed forces, essential industry, or civilian defence, which has been combed out and limited to the minimum number of absolutely indispensable personnel. The remaining 10,350,000 include those running one-man businesses and women with household duties.

There are today in Britain twice the number of women between the ages of 18 and 59 in the armed forces and industry, as there were at the end of the last war. Of women between the ages of 18 and 49, 91 per cent of the single women and 80 per cent of the married, childless women are in the forces or in essential industry.

Both Gribble and Smullet fall to realize that their little "tempest in a crackpot" (as the latter cynically calls it) along with similar movements elsewhere might infect the whole nation. Both count on it staying harmless while growing larger and more lucrative. They, the brains of the outfit, are too smart to want trouble. To Be Amended

Minor amendments to the Nurses' Act will be introduced in the Legislature this week, but the proposal that women be accepted into nursing schools with high school graduation and not necessarily university entrance, as at present, is not contained in the bill.

Women members of the opposition are expected to fight for the lower educational qualification for nurses. The government, however, takes the stand that should B.C. lower the qualification, nurses from this province would be under a handicap should they wish, after training, to go to other provinces of Canada or the United States.

The Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. is opposed to the lowering of the educational standard and asked the government some weeks ago to leave the qualifications as they are now.

Music . . .

By IRIS SMALLWOOD
VIOLINIST IS SOLDIER
AND AUTHOR, TOO

Albert Spalding, American violinist, is serving with the U.S. forces in Italy. He served there with the Allied air services as liaison officer during the First World War.

Spalding is not only one of the most brilliant violin virtuosos of the day—and has been so recognized for nearly 40 years—but has now won distinction as the author of one of the most delightful books of the year—the autobiography, "Rise to Follow." This book is full of amusing anecdotes and quick human observations, told in a direct, dry-humored manner, providing excellent reading entertainment for all, and especially those for whom music is a magnet.

Spalding's first great triumph came in 1902, when Chiti, favorite maestro of Queen Victoria, took him to Bologna to play at the Liceo Rossini before the examining board, in order to obtain for him the graduating diploma of the old conservatory. Objections were raised because of the boy's youth (Spalding was 14 years old at the time) but Chiti challenged the judges, and the boy was permitted a hearing. The judges, upon checking marks, announced the boy had passed with a score of 48 out of 50.

"We looked up the annals of the school," the chairman said, "and found only one precedent for awarding this diploma at such an early age. This was 133 years ago, when a young native of Salzburg presented himself before an astonished board of examiners headed by Padre Martini. His name was Mozart."

HANDICAPPED BY NAME

Spalding—easily, notes, the handicap imposed on him—in America at least—by his own name. People found it difficult to believe that a violin virtuoso could be born of the family so thoroughly associated with the national sport of baseball, for he was the son of J. Walter Spalding, one of the founders of the great sporting firm. There was a great deal of skepticism in his own country when he came to the fore just at the time of the great Elman boom. His lineage assured him of ample resources for a first-class musical education, but his wise father told him he must earn his fame on his own ability, otherwise he would be handicapped by the sobriquet of being just a wealthy amateur, a dilettante. And Spalding has done it—first in Russia, where his name was unknown and the people therefore unprejudiced, and later in America.

Many new members were welcomed to a meeting of the Little Flower Missionary Circle, by the president, Miss McGuire. Plans were discussed for the card party to be held Tuesday in the parish hall. Cash prizes will be awarded. Fathers Matte and Stringer addressed the meeting.

SWIFT'S WEEKLY FOOD HINTS

by Martha Logan

Martha Logan, Swift's famed home economist, whose weekly, wartime cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints each Monday.

Rolled Rib Roast

For small families this is still one of the choicest roasts—tasty and economical.

A three to five pound rolled rib roast is the ideal order for the small family. Delicious hot or cold, it will also supply at least one savoury left-over meal.

A roast of this size takes about 30 minutes to the pound for medium done. Place fat-side-up on a rack in an open pan, 325° F. With the roast, cook potatoes which you have previously par-

Victoria High Raises $1,655 at Circus

One thousand boy and girl students of Victoria High School smiled happily Saturday night when they learned that their two-night circus and bazaar, planned to raise $1,000 for the war fund of the Junior Red Cross, brought a total of $1,655.

Packed both nights the circus returns for Friday amounted to $940 and for Saturday, $715. Stalls, refreshment booths, games of skill, exhibits of crafts, fortune telling and even a program of recorded music.

Dragging around each day, unable to do housework or cranky with the children—feeling miserable. Blaming it on "nerves" when the kidneys may be out of order. When kidneys fail the system clogs with impurities. Headaches—backache, frequently follow. Dodd's Kidney Pills help clear the system, giving nature a chance to restore health and energy. ### CANADIAN WOMEN PLAN TO GO ON A SHOPPING BEE

Canadian women are going to have a shopping bee, when this war is over, because there's such a need for home furnishings. Living-rooms, dining-rooms, bedrooms—they need attention. They plan to spend $71,000,000 this way. Some family post-war plans are even more ambitious. They include new homes; new cars.

How about you? Have you made a definite plan so that when the time comes, you'll have money on hand to do the things you have in mind? If not, it's a good idea to begin right now!

Plan to save things, not to owe for them. One practical way to help bring this about is to make your loose change work for you.

Pulpwood Output Exceeds Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Output of pulpwood in Canada and the U.S. has exceeded estimates of last October by 18 per cent, but pulpwood supplies still are almost 3,000,000 cord, short of minimum war needs, the U.S. War Production Board's combined pulp and paper committee reports.

The basic 1944 pulpwood requirements were put at 23,597,000 cords, with available supplies for the year estimated at 20,956,000 cords.

The over-all deficit of 11 per cent in wood supplies represents an improvement over the estimated 27 per cent deficit last year.

In the last year, cash in banks and on hand increased by $1,065,496 and amounted to $15,272,158.

It is noteworthy, the Premier said, that while the net amount of cash in the bank, for general purposes, increased by $5,533,028 as a result of the 1942-43 surplus, investments on behalf of the superannuation fund reduced the cash at credit to that account by $4,467,532.

The total of all assets was $264,229,681, with an increase of $4,629,127 recorded over the preceding year.

SAVINGS

On the basis of 1942-43 estimates there were savings of $2,506,972, as against excess expenditures of $1,230,435.

"The steady and material decrease in the volume of our debt obligations to the public is most gratifying," Mr. Hart told the House. "A retrospect shows us that during the 12 months ended Dec. 1, 1943, a decrease of $6,362,116 took place in the gross debt and $7,198,092 in the net debt."

Orders for the reduction of paper uses in the U.S. are responsible for bringing the supply situation closer toward a balance, W.P.B. said.

Two of three cars which A. Hall, 424 Kipling, Fred Haigh, 940 Balmoral, and Fred Thornt, 613 Toronto, reported stolen during the week-end, were recovered.

Premier Hart Announces 3 Surpluses

Finances of B.C. In Splendid Shape; Record for Hart

Today was budget day in the Legislature and for the 18th time Premier John Hart, as Minister of Finance, presented the annual accounting of the province's finances, showing them to be in better shape than ever before in history.

Mr. Hart brought down his first budget in 1917 and in succeeding years until 1924, when he retired from public life. In 1933 he was re-elected and since then has been annually giving to the House the all-important statement. For the last three sessions he has delivered the budget as Premier and President of the Executive Council as well as guardian of the treasury. There is no record to equal this, certainly not in Canada, Britain and the United States, and probably not anywhere else in the world.

The Premier did an astonishing thing, he announced three surpluses. One was for $8,137,597 for the fiscal year which ended last March 31; another for $4,600,000 which is expected in the current fiscal year, ending next March 31; and $100,525 for the fiscal year which will end March 31, 1945.

The Hart budget is eagerly awaited all across Canada and in the eastern United States by banking and financial concerns, all of whom study it in detail. One of the most interested is Graham Towers, president of the Bank of Canada, who gets a special copy.

Victoria bankers and financial experts were on the floor of the House today to hear the Premier make his statement, filled with figures baffling to the average person, but meaning a great deal for the public's well-being.

COSTS INCREASE

The war may have brought prosperity to British Columbia, with bigger payrolls than ever before and higher revenues to the government, but it is also costing a great deal, as Mr. Hart's budget showed.

Since war began extras have cost the government $3,216,105 annually and the cost is bound to go up as the war continues. This huge sum includes the following:

Cost-of-living bonus and increase in pensions to the aged, $1,050,000; cost-of-living bonus to mothers' allowances, $66,000; increase in social assistance allowances, $461,208; medical and drug services to pensioners, $140,000; cost-of-living bonus to government employees, $1,095,342; other services and provisions for post-war rehabilitation and reconstruction, $403,555.

Education costs have also gone up enormously, the government now providing for this purpose $1,238,223 more a year than in 1941. Direct financial aid to municipalities has also gone up—$2,073,000 annually in the last 10 years.

In the last year, cash in banks and on hand increased by $1,065,496 and amounted to $15,272,158.

It is noteworthy, the Premier said, that while the net amount of cash in the bank, for general purposes, increased by $5,533,028 as a result of the 1942-43 surplus, investments on behalf of the superannuation fund reduced the cash at credit to that account by $4,467,532.

The total of all assets was $264,229,681, with an increase of $4,629,127 recorded over the preceding year.

SAVINGS

On the basis of 1942-43 estimates there were savings of $2,506,972, as against excess expenditures of $1,230,435.

"The steady and material decrease in the volume of our debt obligations to the public is most gratifying," Mr. Hart told the House. "A retrospect shows us that during the 12 months ended Dec. 1, 1943, a decrease of $6,362,116 took place in the gross debt and $7,198,092 in the net debt."

Orders for the reduction of paper uses in the U.S. are responsible for bringing the supply situation closer toward a balance, W.P.B. said.

Two of three cars which A. Hall, 424 Kipling, Fred Haigh, 940 Balmoral, and Fred Thornt, 613 Toronto, reported stolen during the week-end, were recovered.

So, start that savings account with The Huron & Erie, this very week!

Against Renewal of Dual Income Tax Collections

Hope that dual assessments and collections of income taxes will not be resumed after the war was expressed today in the Legislature by Premier John Hart during his annual budget address.

The provincial government, he said, has always admitted the validity of some of these contentions and has made itself increasingly responsible for some of these services. Despite this, however, the assistance granted has been represented as inadequate.

"Broadly speaking, it is hoped that Dominion-provincial fiscal relations will be placed on a sound basis and that dual assessments and collections of income taxes will not be resumed. As to the income tax, any arrangements made must, however, allow the province to enjoy an equitable and sufficient share of any levy eventually imposed upon corporate and individual income."

Mr. Hart said municipalities in recent years have been contending that existing financial relations between them and the province are in need of a thorough revision to bring them into harmony with conditions of the time.

COST OF LIVING

"It has been said, and with a great deal of justice, that with the rapid progress of the community and the development of science, there has come an expansion in the cost of living and an increased public demand for a vastly broader scope in the provision of such services as education, health and social assistance," the Premier said. "The crux of the representations is that, whereas formerly municipalities provided limited services, well balanced by existing taxes, they now have to provide expansive and costly services from fixed and rigid revenue sources."

"We know that municipalities now rely, as they always have, on real property taxation for most of their revenue. For some years, and in ever-increasing measure, protests have been made by local governments to the effect that, by reducing revenues in the last fiscal year, the government will in other ways aid educational institutions and the cause of education generally in B.C. during the next fiscal year. Premier John Hart showed in his budget address to the Legislature Saturday.

Victoria College will receive an extra grant of $5,000, to make the total $10,000.

The university will receive an additional $47,720 and Normal schools at Victoria and Vancouver an extra $19,145. Earmarked for conveying children to schools is an additional $10,000.

The general office of the Department of Education will receive $14,800 more than a year ago. Vocational guidance and grants for tuition fees will be increased by $13,000. Correspondence schools by $18,000. An extra $80,000 will be given to hospitals in grants and for administration purposes. T.B. control will be aided by an extra $55,000; mental hospitals will receive $131,598 more than in the last year; provincial infirmaries, $111,703; more and industrial schools an extra $10,672.

Increases were noted in the following: Land registry fees, $739,463; Motor Vehicle Act, $96,641; amusement tickets, $49,380; races tax, $201,366; success duties, $389,764; land sales, $48,812; timber sales, $153,979.

During the first nine months of the 1943-44 fiscal year $396,077 was spent from capital borrowings for highways, bridges and ferries.

A juvenile boys Saturday was warned three boys who had been shooting with an air gun at passing cars at North Park and Quadra.

WITH its main interest the promotion of athletics among youngsters up to 18 years a lot of fine work is being accomplished in Victoria by that organization operating under the name of K.V.'s. No doubt a large number of sport followers wonder just how the group decided on such an odd name. It happened this way. Five years ago a boy's basketball team was sponsored by a fellow named Cavey who operated a small confectionery store. The following year he was absent with the services but the youngsters appreciated his efforts to the extent they wanted to keep the name alive and decided to adopt the present K.V.'s emblem.

Since that time the organization has expanded in no small way and has experienced considerable success. The third and fourth years of its operations saw four teams while this year five clubs are playing under its banner. Last season K.V.'s reached the pinnacle by winning the British Columbia intermediate A boys championship. Already this year three K.V.'s clubs have captured the city midget, junior and intermediate B honors while their intermediate A squad is in the city final against Yarrows. Last summer K.V.'s won the city C section men's softball title.

A live wire organization has been built up and the officials can take credit for developing some of the star athletes of recent years. Dick Chungranes, youth basketball and Cana-

Oak Bay High Wins Over College Team

Although they were forced to play the entire second half with only 14 men, Oak Bay High turned back Victoria College, 5 to 3 in Saturday's Intermediate League rugby match. Kerr, Oak Bay hook, suffered a sprained ankle 10 minutes before half-time and left the field for the remainder of the game.

After a scoreless first half, College went into the lead early in the second when Barton intercepted and raced nearly 50 yards to touch the ball down, Robinson failed to kick the convert.

Oak Bay rallied and Latham crashed through the centre to place the ball down between the posts to tie the score. Wells kicked the extra points easily to give Oak Bay a 5 to 3 lead and a victory.

Hockey Stars Arrive Overseas

Among the recent Canadian reinforcement arrivals in England were these four professional hockey players who have left their teammates for the duration to join another famous Canadian team—the Canadian army. Capt. Gordon Polley, left, spent three years in England as a member of the Brighton hockey team. He came back to Canada where he joined the Montreal Canadiens in 1939. In the army he was a member of the Ottawa Commandos who won the Allen Cup in 1942-3. Next is Lieut. Gordon Bruce, another member of the champion Commandos, who was with the Boston Bruins in 1941 prior to enlistment. Terry Reardon performed for both Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens, and was with Nanaimo Army this season, while Cpl. Ken Reardon played with the Canadiens and the Ottawa Commandos.

Golden Gloves Finals

Four Victorians Win

VANCOUVER (CP) — Harry

Smith, former Nanaimo boxer, walked off with all the honors at the golden gloves tournament here Saturday night, topping the evening off with the golden boy, the award for the most scientific boxer, and the crowd's decision for the best fight of the night.

Smith's fight with favorite Jimmy Crook for the lightweight crown stole the show. For three fast rounds Smith had the lead all the way, then in the final the lanky Crook almost took over the show and the crowd went wild watching an exhibition of boxing rarely seen in an amateur ring.

Bobby Parker of the Victoria Army scored the only knockout of the two-day tournament when he flattened Jackie Simpson at 157 of the first round.

A technical knockout won the welterweight crown for Albert

Delis of the Victoria Army in a fight that just proved too much for Cliff Bailey of the R.C.A.F.

Hank Egli retained his middleweight crown in the closest fight of the night, edging out Everett

Bliggs of Port Alberni, Elmer

Shanks and Joe Ashenbrenner put on another great bout, with Ashenbrenner winning the light heavy title.

Gordon Grayston of the Esquimalt Navy won the heavyweight title by default from Ashenbrenner.

Vic Murdoch, Victoria Army, captured the flyweight championship with a technical knock-out over Stan Almond, Vancouver, in the third round.

Mayor Repeats Rate Cut Call

Exception to a statement by Dr. W. A. Carrothers that it would not be possible for the provincial Public Utilities Commission to make a special arrangement covering Victoria light and power rates is taken by Mayor Andrew McGavin in a letter to the City Council this afternoon.

"I recommend," the mayor's letter said, "that the Public Utilities Commission be advised we cannot accept the suggestion that it is not possible to make a special arrangement covering the City of Victoria.

"It was possible to make a special arrangement when it was a question of charging the citizens of Victoria a higher rate than the citizens of Vancouver and now that the commission has found the rates in Victoria are too high, a reduction should be made without further delay."

With Our Servicemen

for a navigation instructor's course.

Just month after being reported missing, following air operations over Germany with the R.C.A.F., Sgt. Bill (Duff) McCaghey was today reported a prisoner of war, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. McCaghey, 1607 Morrison Street. An air gunner, Sgt. McCaghey was overseas six months. Before joining the air force "Duff" established himself an outstanding box lacrosse, rugby and Canadian football performer.

Another Victoria High School graduate, Sgt. J. E. Bath, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bath, 1454 Grant Street, is now in Britain as an air gunner, his parents report. Formerly employed at the V.M.D., he enlisted in June last year. His brother, A.C.I. Jim Bath, an aero-engine mechanic, is home on leave from Yorkton, Sask.

Serving in Ireland as a Seventh Field Hospital ambulance driver is Cpl. "Tubby" Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stevens. He was a well-known soccer player for Victoria West and Esquimalt seniors prior to his departure some years ago for California. "Tubby" played football in the south before joining the U.S. Army and leaving for Ireland.

Sgt. Gordon Atkinson graduated from No. 37, S.F.T.S., R.A.F., as a pilot recently. He was a member of the Victoria Kinsmen's Boys' Band prior to enlisting. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert, live on Cedar Hill Crossroad.

Resting at home after service overseas are Sgt. Andy Wyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wyatt, 1056 Foul Bay Road, who wears the African Star for service in that theatre, and Ptes. William Lloyd Davis and his brother, Robert Taylor Davis, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davis, 1035 Rockland Avenue. The Davis brothers have been two years together with the R.C.A.F. M.C.

If their north England quarters were more luxurious, Norm Loudon, Victoria Times reporter now wearing flight Lieutenant's wings, and his partner, P.O. Bob Drummond Hay, also formerly of the Times staff, might be starting a Victoria Club of their own. Recently they were joined by Jack Dunn, ex-rugby star and oarsman, who worked in the Bank of Nova Scotia here before proceeding to Winnipeg and later joining the R.C.A.F. to become a navigator. Track and rugby star Capt. Paul Bowe dropped in to see the boys recently, on leave from an ack-ack station in Britain.

Recently arrived in England are Lieuts. D. S. Tysoe, G. L. Dunlop, J. Swanson and R. J. Weir, all of Victoria, and Ptes. L. J. Kennedy and H. E. Coton.

Sgt. Donald Deeprose, 3217 Belview Road, has received his pilot's flying wings at No. 3, S.F.T.S., Calgary Alta.

His tour of operation completed and rewarded with the Distinguished Flying Cross, stocky, 22-year-old Flt. Lt. "Dave" Ramsay, Alberta, B.C., is back in the United Kingdom after a sojourn in North Africa. Ramsay, for seven months a squadron bombing leader, was cited for his "splendid example of accurate bombing." He is also credited with making "a second or third bombing run over very heavily defended targets to ensure hitting the aiming point," on several occasions. Fourteen of his 34 operational trips were from bases in the United Kingdom, and he says: "Out there in Africa we had to provide our own Pathfinder force. Each crew had to locate the target for itself, and it meant considerably more work for the bombardier. We also bombed from considerably lower heights than is usual over Germany, anywhere from 4,000 to 8,000 feet, never more."

"I'd like to get a crack at Berlin and I'd like to see something more of the world before I go back to Canada to settle down," says the former banker.

Sgt. Arthur Smith of North Wellington, V.I., where his wife, Olga, and two daughters, Rita and Joan, now live, was killed in action in Italy, Jan. 11. He enlisted with the Canadian Scottish in July, 1940, and later transferred to the American-Canadian units as a paratrooper. Sgt. Smith received his training in Helena, Mont., and Virginia. He proceeded to Manitoba this week to take action in the Aleutians before being sent to Italy.

Police Saturday found Chow Souy Song, 65-year-old Chinese, dead in his room at 533½ Fisgard Street.

Forestry Men's Pay Too Low...Orchard

Salaries in the forestry service are such that the service cannot keep its technical men, some of whom are paid only half what they could obtain in commerce. C. D. Orchard, chief forester for British Columbia, told Mr. Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, Royal Commissioner, today, at the inquiry into all phases and aspects of B.C.'s forest resources.

Mr. Orchard stated he had been with the provincial service for 24 years, becoming chief forester in January, 1941. He described duties of the forestry service under the forest act, and outlined the organization of the department, which is under the Minister of Lands.

Dribbling Out All Time

"I suppose we have hired and lost some 50 technical men over the past 20 years," he said. "There is a dribble out all the time of technical men. One left six months ago and another is leaving next month."

A chief forester was paid $4,600, he said, and an assistant forester $4,000; chiefs of divisions and district foresters from $3,000 to $3,600; senior assistant foresters $2,400 to $3,000, and junior assistant foresters $1,800 to $2,400. Lowest grade for technical men was $1,800, he said, but added that he was not proud of the fact that the service has employed technical men for less than that figure. They were usually employed on a temporary basis, he said.

A regional forester in the United States, whose office was similar to that of provincial forester, was paid $7,500 a year, three years ago, Mr. Orchard said. He did not know the present salary.

Total over-all annual budget of the department was about one million dollars, he said, and average income was about three to three and one-half million dollars. He described the work and responsibilities of the operation, management, economics, grazing and records division of the forestry service, and stated that total personnel throughout the province amounted to 275.

With regards to equipment, Mr. Orchard said that there was a reasonably adequate supply for the scale on which the service was able to operate. Should the department branch out more extensively, he said, it would need double its present number of technical men, the majority of whom are now drawn from the University of B.C. Funds under control of the forestry department were discussed.

TOWN TOPICS

The Canadian Red Cross state the change in new tax exemption regulations, announced by J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, is exceedingly helpful. The change provides "corporations may contribute up to the average of their giving in the two years prior to July 1, 1942, without being affected by the Finance Department's new ruling on tax exemptions." The Red Cross had two campaigns in that two-year period.

The Department of Education is heartily in favor of the plan to have an elective board of six, including two representatives from the school board, the education department and the U.B.C. Board of governors, appointed to name a principal to Victoria College, it was learned from the school board office today. The reaction of the university to the question is expected to be made known following the board of governors' meeting Feb. 28.

Service clubs of Victoria have arranged a series of "Information, Please" radio broadcasts to attract attention to the Red Cross drive. "What do you know about the War" will be the theme of the questions which a "board of experts" of the Lions Club will attempt to answer over CJVI, beginning at 8:30 tonight. Lions' Club representatives will be: W. J. R. Peers, Dr. Clifford Carl, Leo C. Eveden, Milton H. King, and James Roberts.

21 False Alarms,
Wrong Phone Number

Victorians seeking permits to burn rubbish sounded the alarm at the Victoria fire department headquarters 21 times Saturday afternoon. Fire Chief Alex Munro said today. They used the wrong telephone number.

The sounding of each alert brought the men from their quarters to the equipment downstairs.

From 9 to 5 on week-days and from 9 to noon on Saturdays persons seeking permits should call the chief's office, G 2811. Saturday afternoons and Sundays the call should be made to Royal Oak Chapel. Cremation will follow. Haywards (B.C.) Funeral Company are in charge of arrangements.
